

ICHS - SPONSORSHIP & EXHIBITION OPPORTUNITIES

The EU-funded NoE HySafe, under the auspices of IPHE, is currently organizing the Second International Conference on Hydrogen Safety (ICHS) - part of the HySafe Work Plan. HySafe, or "Safety of Hydrogen as an Energy Carrier" is a Network of Excellence (NoE) within the VI European FWP (UE contract SES6-CT-2004-502630).

HySafe contributes towards the safe transition to more sustainable development in Europe by facilitating the safe introduction of hydrogen technologies and applications. It brings together competences and experience from various research and industrial fields (automotive, gas and oil, chemical and nuclear).

Over the last 20 years, much effort has been concentrated on hydrogen safety issues relevant to the nuclear industry, including comprehensive safety studies and the development of innovative mitigation techniques. At the same time, industry and research dealing with today's fossil energy carriers are now confronting issues associated with the everyday use of this technology by the general public. The synthesis, integration, and harmonisation of these efforts are expected to break new ground in the field of hydrogen safety as well as contribute to the increase of public acceptability of hydrogen as an energy carrier.

To help achieve these ends, HySafe is organizing this event in collaboration with the principal EU and international projects on hydrogen safety and will focus the conference on safety issues relevant to the improvement and coordination of knowledge and the understanding of hydrogen safety.

ICHS aims to provide a basis for eliminating safety-related barriers in the implementation of hydrogen as an energy carrier. As such, it will also contribute to promoting public awareness and confidence in hydrogen technology by providing a basis for communicating hydrogen-associated risks. As the subject matter of the conference will be focused mainly on safety issues and measures to promote the public acceptance of hydrogen-based technologies, the material covered in this event will differ from other conferences on hydrogen.

The conference, ICHS '07, will be held 11th -13th September 2007 in San Sebastian, Spain, and will bring together a group of 300 persons from all over the world to debate the following topics:

- Hydrogen Risk Assessment and Management
- Hydrogen Production and Handling
- Hydrogen Applications
- Standardisation and legal requirements

ICHS'07 extends an invitation to private enterprises to exhibit their products and actively participate in the conference. Different options are offered to provide the best match for each company's interests.
